

RHU—2011

APPELLATION	D.O. Valle de Elqui—Chile
GRAPE VARIETIES	73% Syrah—18%Garnacha—9%Petite Sirah
GEOLOGY	Granite from the Andes Mountains
SOILS	A base of decomposed granitic rocks
CLIMATE	Dry (100mm average annual rainfall), with large day-night temperature differences
ALTITUDE	Between 1.720 – 2.206 m.a.s.l.
VINIFICATION	The grapes are trodden by foot in stone lagars
AGEING	30 months in concrete eggs
N° OF BOTTLES	2.785, (estate produced and bottled in origin)
BOTTLING DATE	28 th . October 2013

BRIEF SUMMARY

Main Characteristics of the Vineyards

Located in the Andes Mountains between 1.720 – 2.206 m.a.s.l. in Alcohuz, Elqui Valley, Chile. This is an area of great luminosity and clean blue skies.

Characteristics of the Vintage

Winter–Spring 2010: annual rainfall was 53,5 mm. (below average).

There were no snowfalls or frosts in the vineyards.

Summer 2011: the summer was dry, with only 0,5 mm. of rain.

Average maximum summer temperature for the warmest month (January) was 28°C, and the average minimum was 11,4°C. It was a normal year.